Whether you're reading on a tablet, computer, or listening via audiobook, here are some tips to make your Tacky adventure even more special:

Creating the Right Atmosphere

Cozy Corner: Set up a comfortable reading nook. Dim the lights, grab some cushions, and encourage your child to snuggle in. For Tacky, perhaps even wear a silly hat or mismatched socks for added fun!

Snacks (Optional but Recommended): What's reading without a little treat? Perhaps some "fish crackers" or a "penguin-shaped cookie"?

Interactive Engagement: Don't just read the words. Point to the illustrations, ask questions like, "Why do you think Tacky is doing that?" or "How do you think the other penguins feel?" This enhances comprehension and keeps children engaged.

Voice Acting: If you're reading aloud, have fun with the voices! Give Tacky a slightly bumbling, cheerful voice and the other penguins more refined, perhaps slightly exasperated tones. This adds a whole new layer of humor to Helen Lester's already witty text.
