It's a song that transcends generations, a potent declaration of self-love, resilience, and the sheer joy of being alive. But have you ever stopped to wonder about the intricate tapestry of sounds and emotions woven into its very fabric? Today, we're diving deep into the world of "Feeling Good" sheet music, exploring what makes this Nina Simone masterpiece resonate so profoundly, both on the page and in our hearts. "Feeling Good," originally titled "Feelin' Good," was written by the British songwriting team Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse for the musical The Roar of the Greasepaint - The Smell of the Crowd in 1964. While its origins are theatrical, it's Nina Simone's interpretation, released that same year, that cemented its place in popular culture as an anthem of empowerment. Her rendition is more than just a performance; it's a visceral experience, a testament to her unparalleled artistry and her ability to imbue every lyric and every note with profound meaning. ### The Genesis of a Classic: From Stage to Soul It's fascinating to consider how a song written for a theatrical production, often dealing with themes of racial tension and social injustice, could evolve into a universal symbol of liberation. Anthony Newley himself has spoken about the song's initial inspiration, aiming to capture a sense of optimism and renewal. However, it was Nina Simone, with her unique vocal delivery and her personal journey, who transformed it into something far more powerful. She didn't just sing the song; she lived it. Her version, infused with her characteristic blues and jazz sensibilities, elevated "Feeling Good" from a hopeful tune to an unshakeable affirmation. When you look at the sheet music for "Feeling Good" by Nina Simone, you're not just seeing notes on a page. You're witnessing the blueprint for an emotional journey. The arrangement, while appearing deceptively simple at first glance, is a masterclass in building intensity and conveying a profound sense of uplift. ### Deconstructing the Melody: The Heart of "Feeling Good" The melodic structure of "Feeling Good" is key to its enduring appeal. It's characterized by its soaring, memorable phrases that are both easy to hum and deeply satisfying to sing. Let's break down some of the core elements you'd find in the sheet music: #### The Opening Fanfare: A Dramatic Entrance The iconic opening, often orchestrated with a powerful brass section or a grand piano flourish, is designed to grab your attention immediately. In the sheet music, you'll typically see this indicated with strong dynamic markings, often marked as forte (loud) or even fortissimo (very loud). This isn't just about volume; it's about announcing the arrival of something significant. The chords here are rich and complex, creating a sense of anticipation and grandeur. Think of it as the sun breaking through the clouds – a moment of pure, unadulterated emergence. #### The Verse: A Personal Revelation As Nina Simone's voice enters, the music often softens, allowing the intimate lyrics to take center stage. The sheet music here would likely reflect a more subdued dynamic, perhaps mezzo-forte (moderately loud) or mezzo-piano (moderately soft). The melodic lines in the verses are often more conversational, like someone sharing a profound personal realization. You'll notice the use of specific intervals that create a sense of yearning and then fulfillment. The harmony might employ richer, more jazzy chords, adding depth and sophistication to the narrative. The phrasing, as dictated by the sheet music and interpreted by Simone, is crucial. The pauses, the breath marks – they all contribute to the feeling of genuine introspection. #### The Chorus: The Explosive Declaration This is where "Feeling Good" truly takes flight. The chorus is built for maximum impact. The sheet music would show a significant crescendo, building towards a powerful, sustained melodic line. The lyrics here, "It's a new dawn, it's a new day, it's a new life for me, and I'm feeling good," are delivered with an unshakeable conviction. The melodic leaps are larger, the rhythm more driving. The harmony supports this by often moving to brighter, more resolved chords, reinforcing the sense of liberation and joy. When you see the sheet music for the chorus, you can almost hear Nina's voice ringing out, amplified by the collective spirit of the song. ### Harmony and Chords: The Emotional Underpinnings The harmonic language of "Feeling Good" is what gives it its emotional weight. While it might not be overly complex in its basic structure, the choices of chords and their progression are masterful. ##### Jazzy Influences in the Sheet Music Nina Simone was a classically trained pianist with a deep love for jazz. This is evident in the sheet music, even in its simplified forms. You'll often find the use of seventh chords, ninths, and even thirteenth, which add a sophisticated bluesy flavor. These aren't just random choices; they create a richer, more nuanced emotional palette. The movement between chords in "Feeling Good" often follows established jazz progressions, but with a certain directness that makes them feel universally accessible. The sheet music might indicate specific voicings or passing chords that Simone herself might have used, adding her unique touch. ##### The Power of Resolution A key element in the sheet music's emotional arc is the satisfying resolution of chords. As the song progresses, particularly in the chorus, the harmonic movement leads to moments of strong tonal centers, creating a feeling of arrival and peace. This is crucial for conveying the feeling of "feeling good." The tension built through earlier chord progressions is released, leaving the listener with a sense of contentment and triumph. ### Rhythm and Tempo: The Driving Force The rhythmic feel of "Feeling Good" is as important as its melody and harmony. It's a song that moves forward with a sense of purpose and unhurried confidence. ##### The Andante con Moto Approach While sheet music can be interpreted in many ways, the tempo of "Feeling Good" is often described as andante con moto - a walking pace with movement. It's not rushed, but it's also not static. The steady pulse allows the lyrics and the emotion to breathe. In the sheet music, you'd see this indicated by a metronome marking, usually in the range of 70-80 beats per minute. ##### Syncopation and Swing Even in more straightforward arrangements, there's often a subtle hint of syncopation or a gentle swing in the rhythmic notation. This is where Nina Simone's jazz background truly shines.

The sheet music might not always explicitly mark a swing rhythm, but the phrasing and the implied feel of the melody suggest it. This rhythmic playfulness adds a layer of sophistication and prevents the song from becoming too predictable. It gives it that characteristic groove that makes you want to move. ### Vocal Nuances: Beyond the Written Notes While sheet music provides a framework, it's the performer who breathes life into it. Nina Simone's vocal performance on "Feeling Good" is legendary, and much of its magic lies in her interpretation that goes beyond what's written on the page. #### The Art of Embellishment You won't find every vocal run or embellishment meticulously notated in standard "Feeling Good" sheet music. Simone had an incredible ability to improvise and add tasteful grace notes, slides, and vibrato that conveyed raw emotion. These are the human touches that make a recording unforgettable. The sheet music provides the melody and the harmonic structure, but it's Simone's voice that sculpts it into an iconic performance. #### Dynamic Control and Emotional Arc The sheet music will indicate dynamics, but the sheer range of emotion Nina conveyed – from quiet introspection to explosive joy – is a testament to her masterful control. She could imbue a single word with a universe of feeling. The sheet music shows you when to be loud or soft, but it's her soul that dictates the intensity and the color of those dynamics. ### Finding "Feeling Good" Sheet Music: For Pianists, Guitarists, and More If you're a musician inspired by "Feeling Good," you're in luck.
