But what if we told you there's a way to recoup some of the cost of your trip, potentially saving you hundreds of dollars? We're talking about claiming GST on eligible expenses incurred while travelling. This comprehensive guide will illuminate the process and ensure you maximise your refund at Sydney Airport.

Understanding GST: More Than Just a Tax GST, or Goods and Services Tax, is a consumption tax levied on most goods and services in Australia. While this tax may seem like just another expense, it's a crucial aspect of the Australian economy and importantly, for travellers, it can be reclaimable. This is particularly relevant for international visitors and Australians travelling abroad.

The ability to reclaim GST is a significant benefit, allowing travellers to reduce their overall expenditure and recover funds they may have unknowingly paid during their travels.

Navigating the GST Refund System in Australia

The Australian Taxation Office (ATO) facilitates the GST refund process. They understand that travellers may incur GST on various items, including accommodation, transport, and certain goods purchased while overseas. However, claiming these refunds often requires careful documentation and an understanding of the applicable rules and regulations.

Eligibility Criteria for GST Refunds at Sydney Airport

Crucially, not every expense is eligible for a GST refund.

The key to success lies in understanding the requirements:

- International Travel: You must be a non-resident travelling overseas. This is often the case for tourists and international business visitors.

- Documentation: You must possess all receipts and documentation evidencing the expenses you incurred. These documents need to be detailed, accurate and readily available. The level of detail required often goes far beyond a simple receipt and might include an itemised breakdown of expenditure from a rental car agency or airline. • Specific Expenses: The expenses must be eligible for GST refund. This typically includes accommodation (hotel stays, vacation rentals), certain goods (high-value items like electronics and clothing), and transportation.

Claiming Your GST Refund: A Step-by-Step Guide

Knowing the basics is the first step. The process of claiming GST refunds at Sydney Airport isn't significantly different from other Australian airports. The exact processes might depend on the provider or vendor, but the general principle holds. 1. Gather All Necessary Documentation: This includes detailed receipts for all eligible expenses, copies of your passport, and proof of your travel dates. This is paramount as the lack of necessary documentation could lead to delays or rejection of your refund application. The ATO website provides a downloadable checklist to help you. 2. Determine Your Refundable Amount: Carefully calculate the total GST component for each expense. This is often found on the receipt itself, usually as a separate line item. The refund typically covers GST only on eligible goods. 3. Utilize the Online Refund Application: Many airlines and travel agencies now offer an online platform for submitting claims. Check your airline's website or the ATO for these options. The ATO also offers a mobile application that can assist you in keeping track of your refund applications. 4. Complete the GST Refund Form: Obtain the necessary forms, usually available online or from travel providers. If you are lodging a claim from overseas, it is crucial to ensure the form is correctly filled and that your personal and travel details are accurate. 5. Submit Your Claim: Submit the completed application and required documentation to the designated authority or the designated website. You must follow instructions provided by the airline, travel agent, or the ATO.

Common Mistakes to Avoid

- Incomplete Documentation: Failure to provide essential receipts can result in your claim being rejected. A crucial aspect is ensuring that all documents are accurate, legible, and relevant to the claimed expenses.
- Incorrect Calculation of GST: Calculating the GST component incorrectly can lead to a reduction in your refund or rejection of the claim. Double-check your calculations meticulously.
- Missed Deadlines: Make sure to submit your claim within the specified timeframe. These deadlines are often clearly stated on the relevant application forms.
- Ignoring Eligibility Criteria: Not meeting the necessary criteria can potentially result in a rejection of your claim. Be meticulous in ensuring your expenses fall within the defined parameters.

Benefits of Claiming Your GST Refund

- Financial Savings: Recoup a significant portion of the GST paid, potentially saving you hundreds or even thousands of dollars.
- Simplified Process: With many airlines and travel providers incorporating online platforms, the refund process is usually streamlined.
- Peace of Mind: Knowing that you're maximizing your savings can provide peace of mind during an often stressful travel experience.

Potential Complications and Solutions

Dealing with Delays

Delays in processing GST refunds can arise for various reasons, from administrative issues to discrepancies in documentation. If your refund application is delayed or if you have specific concerns, contacting the relevant authorities, such as the ATO, can provide timely resolution and assistance in addressing your query.

Dealing with Rejected Claims

If your GST refund claim is rejected, it is essential to understand the reasons behind the rejection. Carefully review the rejection letter to identify the specific areas that need improvement. The reasons for rejection can range from insufficient documentation to issues with the calculation of the GST component. If a claim is rejected, consider resubmitting the form with the missing or corrected documents.

Understanding Refund Timeframes

The timeframe for processing GST refunds can vary significantly depending on several factors. These factors include the complexity of the claim, the volume of claims received, and the availability of resources. Always consult the official guidelines or contact the relevant authority for expected timelines. Some airlines or travel providers may have their own processing times.

Navigating GST Refunds at Sydney Airport: Your Essential Guide

So, you've just had an amazing time exploring Sydney, soaking in the sun, maybe even indulging in a bit of retail therapy. Now, as your departure date looms, you're wondering about getting some of that Goods and Services Tax (GST) back. Great news! As an international visitor, you might be eligible for a GST refund on eligible purchases made in Australia. And if you're flying out of Sydney Airport (SYD), you're in the right place. We'll cover everything from understanding what qualifies for a refund to the nitty-gritty of the claiming process at SYD. Think of this as your personal roadmap to recouping some of that travel budget!

What Exactly is the Tourist Refund Scheme (TRS)?

Before we dive into the specifics of Sydney Airport, let's clarify what we're talking about. The Tourist Refund Scheme (TRS) is an Australian government initiative that allows eligible tourists to claim a refund of the GST (and WET - Wine Equalisation Tax) paid on certain goods purchased within Australia. This isn't a discount applied at the point of sale; it's a refund you claim after you've paid for your goods and are about to leave the country. The core idea is to encourage international visitors to shop in Australia by making their purchases GST-free. It's a fantastic perk that many travellers overlook, so understanding it can save you a bit of money!

Who is Eligible for a GST Refund?

Not everyone can claim GST back. To be eligible, you need to meet a few key criteria:

- * Be an Overseas Visitor: This means you're not an Australian citizen or a permanent resident of Australia.
- * Have Travelled from Overseas: You must be departing Australia on an international flight.
- * Purchased Goods in Australia: The items must have been bought in Australia.
- * Paid GST/WET: You must have paid the GST or WET component of the purchase price. This is usually clearly indicated on your tax invoice.
- * Purchased within 60 Days of Departure: You need to claim your refund within 60 days of buying the goods.
- * Spend Minimum Amount: You must have spent at least $300 (including GST) at the same retailer, on the same day. This means you can combine receipts from the same store over a single day to reach the $300 minimum. It's crucial to remember that services, accommodation, and consumable goods like food and drinks are generally not eligible for TRS claims.

What Items Can You Claim GST On?

Generally, most goods purchased from Australian retailers that attract GST are eligible for a refund. This includes:

- * Clothing and accessories
- * Jewellery
- * Watches
- * Electronics (e.g., cameras, laptops, phones)
- * Souvenirs
- * Perfumes
- * Anything else you can physically take with you on your departing flight. However, there are some important exclusions. You cannot claim GST on:

- * Alcohol and Tobacco: These are taxable, but not eligible for TRS.
- * Services: This includes things like hotel bookings, car hire, or guided tours.
- * Consumables: Food, beverages, and medicines bought for immediate consumption.
- * Goods Purchased Duty-Free: You've already received a duty-free concession.
- * Goods that are Restricted or Prohibited Exports: For example, certain types of wildlife products or historical artefacts.
- * Goods Purchased as part of a package deal.

Pro Tip: Always check the Australian Border Force (ABF) website for the most up-to-date information on eligible and ineligible items.

Your Step-by-Step Guide: How to Claim GST at Sydney Airport

Now for the main event! Sydney Airport makes the TRS process relatively straightforward. Here's what you need to do:

Step 1: Gather Your Documents and Goods

Before you even head to the airport, ensure you have:

- * Original Tax Invoices: These are absolutely essential. Make sure they clearly show the GST amount paid and that the retailer's Australian Business Number (ABN) is listed. If you have multiple receipts from the same store on the same day to reach the $300 threshold, have them all ready. * The Goods Themselves: You must present the goods you are claiming the refund on. * Your Passport and Boarding Pass: Proof of your identity and that you are departing Australia. Important Note: If your purchases are bulky or cannot be carried on your person (e.g., a large TV), you will need to present them at the TRS facility before checking in your luggage. For most typical shopping purchases, you can present them after checking in.

Step 2: Locate the TRS Facility at Sydney Airport

Sydney Airport has dedicated TRS facilities to help you process your claims. There are typically two main locations: * International Terminal (T1): After you have cleared Australian Border Force (ABF) and airline security checks, you will find the TRS facility within the departure lounge. Look for signs indicating "Tourist Refund Scheme" or "TRS". It's usually a clearly marked counter. * Domestic Terminals: For travellers connecting to an international flight from a domestic terminal, you will need to proceed to the International Terminal (T1) to claim your refund. Pro Tip: Familiarise yourself with the Sydney Airport map online before you travel. This can save you precious time and reduce pre-flight stress.

Step 3: Present Your Documents and Goods to the TRS Officer

Once you're at the TRS facility, you'll need to queue up and present your documents and goods to the TRS officer. They will: * Verify your Tax Invoices: Ensure they meet the TRS requirements. * Inspect the Goods: They will check that you have the items you are claiming a refund on and that they are in their original condition (or as purchased). * Check your Passport and Boarding Pass: Confirm your identity and departure details. The officer will then process your claim.

Step 4: Receive Your Refund

If your claim is approved, you'll be offered a refund. You can typically choose to receive your refund in one of the following ways: * Australian Dollars (AUD) in Cash: This is often the quickest option if available. * Credit to Your Credit Card: If you paid by credit card, the refund can often be credited back to the same card. This can take a few business days. * Cheque: Less common, but sometimes an option. Important Considerations: * Claiming Limits: There are limits on the amount of cash that can be refunded per claim. * Timing: The TRS facility operates during specific hours. It's best to allow ample time before your flight, especially during peak travel periods. Aim to arrive at the TRS facility at least one hour before your flight's scheduled departure. *

Queues: Be prepared for potential queues, particularly during busy times.

Can You Claim GST on Goods Bought Online?

This is a common question. Generally, you cannot claim GST on goods purchased online for delivery within Australia, even if you are an overseas visitor. The TRS applies to goods purchased from a retailer in Australia and physically carried out of Australia as hand luggage or checked baggage.

The Mobile App: Making it Easier

In recent years, the Australian Government has introduced a TRS mobile app. This app can significantly speed up the claiming process.  How it Works:* You can use the app to enter your claim details, including your personal information and the details of your purchases (from your tax invoices), before you arrive at the airport.  At the Airport:* Once at the TRS facility, you simply present your app-generated QR code to the officer. They will then scan this code, verify your goods, and process your refund. This bypasses the need for manual data entry by the officer, making the whole interaction much faster.  Download it Now:* Search for "Tourist Refund Scheme" in your app store. Why use the app? It saves time, reduces the chance of manual data entry errors, and generally makes the entire process more efficient. It's a must-have for anyone looking to claim GST at Sydney Airport!

Tips for a Smooth GST Claim at SYD

To ensure your GST claim at Sydney Airport experience is as seamless as possible, keep these tips in mind:

1. Shop Smart: Keep all your eligible receipts for purchases over $300 (from the same retailer, same day) organised.
2. Use the App: Download and familiarise yourself with the TRS app before your trip.
3. Don't Check In Bulky Items: If you have large items that need to be presented to the ABF, do so before checking your luggage.
4. Allow Plenty of Time: Seriously, don't leave this to the last minute. Queues can form, and you don't want to miss your flight. Aim to be at the TRS facility at least 60 minutes before departure.
5. Keep Goods Accessible: Pack your eligible items in a way that allows you to easily retrieve them for inspection.
6. Check Retailer Policies: While most retailers are familiar with TRS, it's always good practice to ask if they can provide a tax invoice suitable for TRS claims when you make a purchase.
7. Know What's Eligible: Understand the rules around eligible and ineligible items to avoid disappointment.
8. Ask Questions: If you're unsure about anything, don't hesitate to ask the TRS officers. They are there to help.

Claiming GST at Sydney Airport: A Comprehensive Guide
Navigating the intricacies of Goods and Services Tax (GST) while traveling through Sydney Airport can seem daunting, especially for international visitors and business travelers. However, understanding how to claim GST refunds at one of the world's busiest aviation hubs opens up tangible financial benefits and enhances the travel experience. This guide explores the process, eligibility, practical applications, and the evolving landscape of GST claims at Sydney Airport, offering clarity for those seeking to reclaim their tax payments efficiently.

Understanding GST and Its Relevance in International Travel

GST, or Goods and Services Tax, is a consumption tax applied to most goods and services supplied in Australia. While domestic travelers rarely interact with GST formally, international visitors often encounter it during retail purchases, duty-free shopping, or when acquiring goods subject to tax. When travelers from GST-registered countries purchase goods exceeding a certain threshold—typically AUD 100—they are entitled to a refund of the GST paid, provided they comply with customs regulations and claim procedures. Sydney Airport, serving as a gateway to Australia, plays a pivotal role in facilitating this process, particularly for passengers arriving or departing with taxable purchases.

Who Is Eligible to Claim GST at

Sydney Airport?

Eligibility for GST refunds at Sydney Airport hinges on specific criteria. First, travelers must hold a valid passport and have entered Australia by air. The goods purchased must be non-returnable, such as souvenirs, electronics, or duty-free items, and the total value must exceed the GST threshold—usually 100 Australian dollars. Additionally, the transaction must be documented with a proper invoice or receipt that clearly shows the GST amount charged. Passengers who are not Australian residents and have not previously claimed refunds through Australia's official channels are eligible. It's crucial to verify that the goods fall under the scope of GST refunds and that no prohibited items are involved, such as restricted substances or alcohol above legal limits.

The Claiming Process: Step-by-Step at Sydney Airport

Claiming GST at Sydney Airport begins at the airport's dedicated GST recovery kiosk, strategically located within international transit zones. Travelers must bring their original receipt or invoice along with a valid passport to verify identity. Upon arrival, passengers proceed to the GST office, where trained officers guide them through document checks and processing. The kiosk automates the refund calculation, deducting applicable GST and issuing a refund via the traveler's registered method—typically Australian bank deposit or credit card—within a few business days. For those unable to visit in person, some GST recovery services offer pre-arrival applications, streamlining the process. This direct, user-friendly system minimizes delays and ensures transparency, empowering travelers to reclaim their tax efficiently without extensive paperwork.

Key Insights and Practical Applications Beyond the Airport

Beyond immediate financial relief, claiming GST at Sydney Airport offers strategic advantages. It encourages responsible consumption by incentivizing travelers to stay within declared thresholds, reducing impulse buying and fostering mindful spending. Moreover, the refund process promotes financial literacy, helping visitors grasp Australia's tax system firsthand. For business travelers, reclaiming GST on essential supplies—like professional equipment or office materials—directly supports operational efficiency. Airlines and airport services increasingly support this by providing clear signage and multilingual guidance, ensuring inclusivity across diverse international clientele. As digital integration grows, future iterations may allow mobile submission of receipts, further simplifying the experience.

Future Outlook: Streamlining GST Refunds in Australian Airports

The Australian government continues to modernize GST recovery mechanisms, with a clear focus on enhancing accessibility and reducing friction for travelers. Sydney Airport, as a key node in this network, is poised to adopt advanced technologies such as automated document verification, real-time refund tracking, and expanded digital platforms. These innovations aim to cut processing times, minimize errors, and broaden eligibility to include a wider range of taxable goods. Additionally, increased collaboration between airlines, customs authorities, and retail partners will create seamless refund pathways, transforming GST recovery from a bureaucratic hurdle into a smooth, integrated part of the travel journey. As sustainability and tax fairness become central to global policy, the evolution of GST claims at Sydney Airport reflects a forward-thinking approach that benefits both travelers and the economy. Claiming GST at Sydney Airport is no longer a complex or obscure task—it is a well-supported, efficient process that turns tax payments into tangible returns. By understanding eligibility, following the clear claiming steps, and embracing ongoing digital improvements, travelers can revitalize their journey with both satisfaction and financial prudence.

How to Claim GST Back at Sydney Airport: A Comprehensive Guide for International Travellers

Navigating the process of claiming a Goods and Services Tax (GST) refund at Sydney Airport can be a confusing, yet potentially rewarding, experience for international visitors. This detailed guide breaks down the essential steps, eligibility criteria, and helpful tips to ensure you maximise your GST refund before departing Australia.

Understanding the GST Tourist Refund Scheme (TRS)

The Australian government offers a Tourist Refund Scheme (TRS) that allows eligible international travellers to claim a refund of the GST (and WET - Wine Equalisation Tax) paid on goods purchased in Australia. This scheme is designed to encourage tourism by allowing visitors to recover the tax they've paid on items they take out of the country. It's crucial to understand that this is a refund of the tax component, not the entire purchase price.

What is GST and WET?

Goods and Services Tax (GST) is a broad-based tax of 10% on most goods, services, and other items sold or consumed in Australia. Wine Equalisation Tax (WET) is a specific tax applied to wine and other alcoholic beverages, which can also be claimed back under the TRS. Understanding these taxes is the first step in comprehending the refund process.

Who is Eligible for a GST Refund?

To be eligible for a GST refund through the TRS, you must meet several key criteria:

1. Be an international traveller: This includes tourists, business travellers, and temporary residents departing Australia. Australian citizens and permanent residents are generally not eligible unless they are departing Australia for at least 12 months.
2. Purchase eligible goods: The goods must have been purchased from a retailer in Australia who has registered for the TRS. Most retailers participate, but it's always wise to check.

3. Spend at least AUD $300 (including GST) in a single retailer: You can accumulate receipts from the same retailer on the same day to meet this threshold. For example, if you buy two items from the same store for $150 each, you can claim GST on both. However, if you buy from two different stores, even if the total exceeds $300, you cannot combine those receipts for a single claim.
4. Carry the goods with you on the aircraft or ship: The purchased items must be worn or carried as hand luggage on your departing flight or sea voyage. Larger items, like furniture or vehicles, may have specific rules and may need to be shipped separately.
5. Claim the refund within 60 days of purchase: You must lodge your refund claim within 60 days of the date of purchase.

What Goods Are Not Eligible for GST Refund?

While many goods are eligible, some exceptions apply. These typically include:

1. Goods that are consumed or become part of the vessel or aircraft (e.g., fuel for a private yacht).
2. Goods that are prohibited imports or exports.
3. Goods that have been used in Australia, even partially (e.g., opened cosmetics or food items).

4. Services (e.g., hotel accommodation, car hire, tours).
5. Gifts or souvenirs that are worn or used on the body and are not taxed at the point of sale (e.g., very low-value items).
6. Certain alcoholic beverages and tobacco products that are subject to excise duty and are not taxed with GST at the point of sale.

Step-by-Step Guide: Claiming Your GST Refund at Sydney Airport

Claiming your GST refund at Sydney Airport is a straightforward process if you follow these steps diligently. It's essential to allow ample time for this, especially during peak travel periods.

1. Keep Your Tax Invoices and Receipts

This is the most critical step. When you make a purchase that you intend to claim GST on, ensure you ask the retailer for a valid tax invoice. A valid tax invoice must clearly show:

1. The retailer's Australian Business Number (ABN).
2. The GST amount paid (or the price indicating GST).
3. The date of the purchase.
4. The amount of the purchase.

5. The name of the purchased item.

For purchases under $1,000, a simplified tax invoice from the retailer is acceptable. However, for purchases of $1,000 or more, a full tax invoice with the buyer's name and address is required. Keep all your eligible tax invoices organised, ideally in a dedicated folder or envelope.

2. Download the TRS App

The Australian Border Force (ABF) has introduced a Tourist Refund Scheme (TRS) app. This app can significantly speed up your refund claim. You can enter your travel details and the details of the goods you wish to claim before you arrive at the airport. Once you are at the airport, you can present your app claim code to a TRS facility, where an officer will verify your goods and receipts.

1. Benefits of the TRS App: Faster processing times at the airport, less paperwork, and the ability to pre-register multiple claims.
2. When to use the app: You can complete most of the app process before you leave home, but you'll need to finalise it at the airport.

3. Proceed to the TRS Facility at

Sydney Airport

Sydney Airport has dedicated TRS facilities located within the international terminal. These are typically found after you have checked in your luggage but before you proceed through immigration and security. It is recommended to arrive at the airport with at least 40-60 minutes to spare before boarding to allow sufficient time for the TRS claim process.

1. Location: The TRS facility is clearly signposted within the departure area.
2. Timing is key: Arrive early to avoid queues.

4. Present Your Goods, Tax Invoices, and Passport

When you reach the TRS facility, you will need to present the following to a Customs officer:

1. Your passport.
2. Your boarding pass.
3. Your eligible tax invoices.
4. The goods you are claiming a refund on.

The officer will verify your details, check that the goods are present and eligible, and confirm that you meet the TRS requirements. They may ask to inspect the goods to ensure they are new and have not been used in Australia. For items that cannot be carried on board (e.g., large purchases), arrangements will need to be made with the ABF, and these goods will be inspected before you check them in.

5. Receive Your GST Refund

Once your claim is approved, you will receive your GST refund. You can choose to receive your refund in:

- 1. Australian Dollars (AUD) cash.
- 2. To your Australian credit/debit card.
- 3. To your overseas credit/debit card.

The method of refund payment may depend on the amount being claimed and the specific TRS facility at the time.

Tips for a Smooth GST Claim Experience

To make your GST refund claim as seamless as possible, consider these helpful tips:

Organise Your Receipts

As mentioned, meticulous organisation of your tax invoices is paramount. Group them by retailer and date. This will save you significant time and stress at the airport.

Shop at Participating Retailers

While most retailers participate in the TRS, it's a good idea to confirm when making your purchase. Look for the "Tourist Refund Scheme" or "TRS" logo, or simply ask the sales assistant.

Be Mindful of Your Departure Time

Always factor in extra time at the airport for TRS claims, especially during busy periods like holidays or major events. Missing your flight because of a long queue at the TRS desk is a frustrating outcome.

Understand the "Goods Carried" Rule

Remember that the goods must be carried on your person or in your hand luggage. If you need to check in larger items, ensure you have made prior arrangements with the ABF. Failure to comply with this rule will result in your claim being rejected.

What if I Purchased Online?

If you purchased goods online from an Australian retailer for delivery to your overseas address, you may still be eligible to claim GST, provided you meet all other TRS requirements and can show proof of purchase and GST payment. You will need to present the goods, tax invoice, and proof of export at the TRS facility.

Potential Delays and Issues

Occasionally, you might encounter issues with your claim. This could be due to incomplete documentation, goods not being presented, or discrepancies in the information provided. If your claim is rejected, politely ask the officer for a clear explanation of the reasons. You can also contact the Australian Border Force for further clarification.

Beyond Sydney Airport: Other Departure Points

While this guide focuses on Sydney Airport, the principles of the Tourist Refund Scheme apply to all international departure points in Australia, including Melbourne Airport, Brisbane Airport, Perth Airport, and others. The process and eligibility criteria remain consistent across the country.

International Airports and TRS

Each major international airport in Australia has dedicated TRS facilities. Familiarise yourself with the location of the TRS counter at your departure airport to save time on the day of your travel.

Conclusion

Claiming GST back at Sydney Airport is a valuable perk for international travellers, allowing you to recover a portion of your spending on eligible Australian purchases. By understanding the eligibility criteria, meticulously organising your tax invoices, and allowing ample time for the process, you can successfully navigate the Tourist Refund Scheme and depart Australia with a little extra money in your pocket. 1	I'm flying out of Sydney Airport. Can I actually claim GST on my purchases? How does that work?	Yes, you can! If you're an international visitor to Australia, you can claim GST (Goods and Services Tax) on eligible goods purchased within 60 days of your departure from Australia. You'll need to present the goods, your tax invoices, and your boarding pass at the TRS (Tourist Refund Scheme) facility at Sydney Airport.
2	What kind of items can I get a GST refund on at Sydney Airport?	Generally, you can claim GST on most goods purchased from a single retailer totalling $300 or more (including GST). This includes clothing, jewellery, electronics, and souvenirs. However, services, consumables (like food and drinks), and goods purchased overseas are not eligible.
3	Where is the TRS facility at Sydney Airport?	The TRS facility is located in the departures hall of the international terminal (Terminal 1) at Sydney Airport. Look for signage indicating 'Tourist Refund Scheme' or 'TRS'.
4	What documents do I need to bring to claim GST at Sydney Airport?	You'll need your original tax invoices for all eligible purchases, your passport as proof of identity and international travel, and your boarding pass for your departing flight.

5	How much GST can I expect to get back when I claim at Sydney Airport?	You'll receive a refund equivalent to the GST paid on eligible items. The amount will be clearly stated on your tax invoice. It's generally around 1/11th of the purchase price.
6	Can I claim GST on items I bought online and had shipped to my Sydney hotel?	No, the Tourist Refund Scheme generally applies to goods that you carry out of Australia yourself. Goods that are shipped or mailed out of Australia are not eligible for a GST refund.
7	What if I bought multiple items from the same store, but under $300 each? Can I still claim?	As long as the total value of eligible goods purchased from that single retailer within 60 days before your departure is $300 or more (including GST), you can claim. The tax invoices will be aggregated for the refund.
8	I'm worried about long queues at TRS. What's the best time to go to claim my GST at Sydney Airport?	It's best to arrive at the airport with ample time before your flight.
